Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to amendment filed March 13, 2007. Applicant amended claims 1, 15, 26 and canceled claims 2, 8, 10, 16, 21, 27, 30 and 37. Claims 1, 3-7, 9, 11-15, 17-20, 22-26, 28-29, 31-36, 38 and 39 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3-7, 9, 11-15, 17-20, 22-26, 28, 29, 31-36, 38 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Daly et al. (US 5,878,141).

Regarding claims 1, 3, 4, 12, 15, 17, 18 and 26, 28, 29, Daly teaches sending transactional information about a product or service that is for sale to consumer (see fig. 6); receiving transaction request about product or services from a consumer, the transaction request including a transaction identifier (col. 4 line 60 to col. 5 line 20); verifying the consumer against a database; verifying the business with the respect of the transaction against the second library by comparing the transaction identifier to a list of transaction identifiers in the second library (see col. 5 line 45 to col. 6 line 67); verifying information for use in a second library of business information by at least checking the history of the business and checking whether any complaints have been filed against the business. Days discloses; “The head end server portion of purchasing system 74 indexes the list of merchants kept in merchant database 83 to retrieve the set of accepted payment methods and account information that corresponds to the merchant identified in the purchase request (step 214). The list of subscribers in subscriber database 81 is also indexed to retrieve the set of personal payment methods, spending limits, self-imposed purchase allowances, account balances, and any other financial information that corresponds to the subscriber identified in the purchase request (step 216). It is noted that the ability to index these databases and pull up real registered parties helps ensure that the transaction involves registered, legitimate, identifiable parties, and is not a fraudulent transaction". (see col. 12 lines 12-28). Days teaches sending the verified transaction to a server system (interface of the server0 of the business with respect to which the transaction request has been received (see col. 10 line 26 to col. 11 line 6, col. 12 line 12 to col. 13 line 57); wherein the transaction data is send with a broadcast data using at least one of cable broadcast, satellite broadcast etc. (see, col. 6 lines 36-67, col. 9 lines 8-63).

Regarding claim 5, Daly teaches receiving a transaction request over an insecure Internet connection (see col. 6 lines 56-67).

Regarding claim 6, 7, 9, 11, 19, 20, 22, 23, 31-33, 36 and 38, Daly teaches receiving identification of the consumer, identification of the business, identification of the product; identifying the transactional information to which the transaction request is directed; database including credit information of the consumer; verifying the business (see col. 7 lines 1-25, col. 8 lines 62-67, col. 10 line 60 to col. 12 line 28).

Regarding claims 13, 14, 24, 25 and 39, Daly teaches sending the verified request using an encryption (see col. 14 line 10 to col. 16 line 46); sending the verified transaction request using telephone connection (see col. 6 lines 37-67, col. 8 line 62 to col. 9 line 39).

Regarding claims 34 and 35, Days teach a transaction processor including the libraries (see fig., col. 5 lines 47-60).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 12, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant asserts that the features provide significant benefits to consumers by checking the businesses and argues that in Daly, the system only checks the consumer. Applicant further states that these features also allow a system to be open to a larger number of businesses to participate. Examiner respectfully disagrees. Daly teaches checking to different database, one for checking the consumer and one for checking the merchants. Daly anticipates the ability to index these databases and pull up real registered parties helps ensure that the transaction involves registered, legitimate, identifiable parties, and is not a fraudulent transaction. Daly therefore, teaches checking the history of the business that is registered, the history being that the business is legitimate. Applicant does not disclose the type of information included in applicant's database that would indicate that the business is not legitimate. Days also teaches that the subscriber database and merchant database are formed over time as new viewers subscribe to the system and more merchants participate therefore Days anticipates that the system to open to a large number of businesses to participate.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 3622

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
